Rhyming Poems for Shared Reading

Carpenter, Carpenter

By Jack Prelutsky

Carpenter, carpenter, build us a house,
A sweet little house for a mouse and a spouse,
A mouse and a spouse and a family too,
We know that you can, and we hope that you do.
Build it of brick so it's cozy and warm,
To keep us from harm in a cold winter storm.
As soon as you finish, we'll pay you with cheese,
Carpenter, carpenter, build our house, please.

Kitty Caught a Caterpillar

By Jack Prelutsky

Kitty caught a caterpillar,
Kitty caught a snail,
Kitty caught a turtle
By its tiny turtle tail,
Kitty caught a cricket
With a sticky bit of thread,
She tried to catch a bumblebee,
The bee caught her instead.

The Average Hippopotamus

By Jack Prelutsky

The average hippopotamus
is big from top to bottomus,
It travels at a trotamus,
And swims when days are hotamus.
Because it eats a lotamus,
It's practically a yachtamus,
So it's a cinch to spotamus
The average hippopotamus.

My Brother's Bug

By Jack Prelutsky

My brother's bug was green and plump,
It did not run, it could not jump,
It had no fur for it to shed,
It slept all night beneath his bed.

My brother's bug had dainty feet,
It did not need a lot to eat,
It did not need a lot to drink,
It did not scream, it did not stink.

It always tried to be polite,
It did not scratch, it did not bite,
The only time it soiled the rug
Was when I squashed my brother's bug.
